WELCOME TO LAKE PLACID

It takes a lot of caladiums to make Lake Placid Caladium Capital of the World. Virtually all commercial production of caladiums takes place right here in Central Florida and most of the growers have fields in Lake Placid.

Caladiums were first successfully bred in the 1860s. When Florida caladium breeding first began in about 1910, they quickly became a garden favorite.

There are approximately 1200 acres in the area producing these lovely plants and more than 2000 named varieties have been produced over the past 150 years. One of the oldest hybrids, "Candidum" is still a very popular variety.
